WEB PAGE CONTENT, DESIGN AND AUTHORING WORKSHOP

The Webpage workshop held on Dec. 2nd stressed the importance of planning your webpage first before you launch the site. Think about: purpose, functions, audiences. Then prioritize these functions and give some thought to design considerations, such as, style, fonts, and colors.

The group then moved to hands-on exploration of some sites and tutorials on HTML and Web page development.   Some of the suggested sites are:

User Active: Everything for Web Developers – http://www.useractive.com/main1/ (click on Learning)

EdWeb's HTML Crash Course for Educators
http://edweb.gsn.org/htmlintro.html

Gabe's easy "Learn-by-Example: HTML Tutorial –

INFOPASS REVISION

Please help!   I am in the process of starting a revision of our INFOPass booklet. In an effort to save postage I am going to try something new.
Check your INFOPass listing in the booklet dated September 1997. Then   let me know if it is correct.

Bernyce Christiansen
Email: bchristiansen@ursulinestl.org
FAX: 314-965-4443
Phone: 314-965-1305
Address: SLRLN
         9425 Big Bend
         St. Louis, MO 63119

To make corrections copy your old listing and make the corrections on copy then Fax or mail to Bernyce.

I must hear from everybody even if no corrections are needed.

I hope to finish revisions before Christmas and mail our INFOPass booklet with new directories in early January. If I cannot get a response from your library, you will be dropped from the INFOPass Program.

NOTICE!

The SLRLN office will be closed Dec. 23 – Jan. 2

RECOMMENDED
WEB SITES

The following websites were recommended by your fellow librarians as being very helpful.

Primary resources for American History:
http://www.loc.gov - Library of Congress home page – Click on American History to access the American Memory pages. This site has diaries, videos, audio tapes, pictures, maps, documents etc. The site can be searched by keyword or chronologically.

Multi resources
